

MERCHANTS OFFER LIST OF BARGAINS FOR DOLLAR DAY

Friday's Event Will Be Most Important Yet Held in Mishawaka.

Friday will be observed by many of the merchants of Mishawaka as "Dollar Day," when they will offer such bargains in merchandise as will appeal to the veriest of bargain-hunters. The advertisements of those participating in the event will be found throughout the Mishawaka pages in this issue of The News-Times and should be read carefully by everyone anxious to save money. Dry goods, gentle furnishings, shoes, jewelry, women's ready-to-wear, men's clothing, etc., are included among the goods to be offered Friday's shopping crowds. The merchants have determined to make this sales event the biggest and best in the history of such occasions in Mishawaka, and the public is advised to come down to the shopping district as soon after 8 o'clock in the morning as is possible.

Mrs. Abraham charges that Hassen had assaulted her at the point of a gun, several times during the past three months, threatening to kill her if she told her husband or authorities. Hassen, who is employed on a local factory night shift, will be arraigned in city court today.

CONFISCATE LARGE GILL NET SUNDAY

Penn Twp. Fish and Game Commission Makes Round-up at Osceola.

The rounding up of 1 foreigners and the confiscation of a large still at Osceola Sunday by the members of the Penn township fish and game protective association has probably put a stop to the wholesale removal of fish from the backwaters of St. Joseph river near Hen Island dam. The fishermen, who were alleged to have been operating the net, were taken into custody by Forest H. Townsend and Bert Stout of the protective association and after being closely questioned were released without arrest because of the failure of the complaining party to identify the owner of the net. The gill net was taken by the association representatives and burned. The capture of the band of fishermen followed numerous complaints by residents in the vicinity of Hen Island dam that fish had been taken out of the river in large quantities recently. As soon as the association members were notified of the fact a investigation was started that ended with the roundup at Osceola Sunday.

It is believed that the net has been used frequently in the backwaters of the river where wholesale catches of fish have been removed. The members of the fish and game protective society feel confident that they have located the cause and perhaps put a stop to the unlawful means of fishing that has been carried on.
